My take

A 2001 Rio 550 Cruiser, the small cabin boat from the Italian yard Rio: a cockpit with helm and co-pilot seats, an aft sofa and a bow cabin to stow gear or get out of the sun for a while. It is a day boat that is easy to handle and to look after.

What matters most on this boat is the engine: a 2025 Suzuki 150 hp outboard with around 30 hours, still under warranty. On a boat of this size that is plenty of power, and on a hull of this age having a practically new engine is what gives a buyer the most peace of mind.

It has a bimini, a cockpit cover and a teak-style cockpit floor. It is currently ashore in the Vallès area (Barcelona); the price does not include a berth or a trailer. It can be viewed by appointment, and the sea trial takes place after a deposit has been paid.

By length it can be skippered with the Navigation Licence or a higher qualification. Capacity and ITB details are confirmed from the documentation. The price is €28,000; it is a private sale, so there is no VAT and the buyer pays the transfer tax (ITP) of their region.
